

The Employer Registry

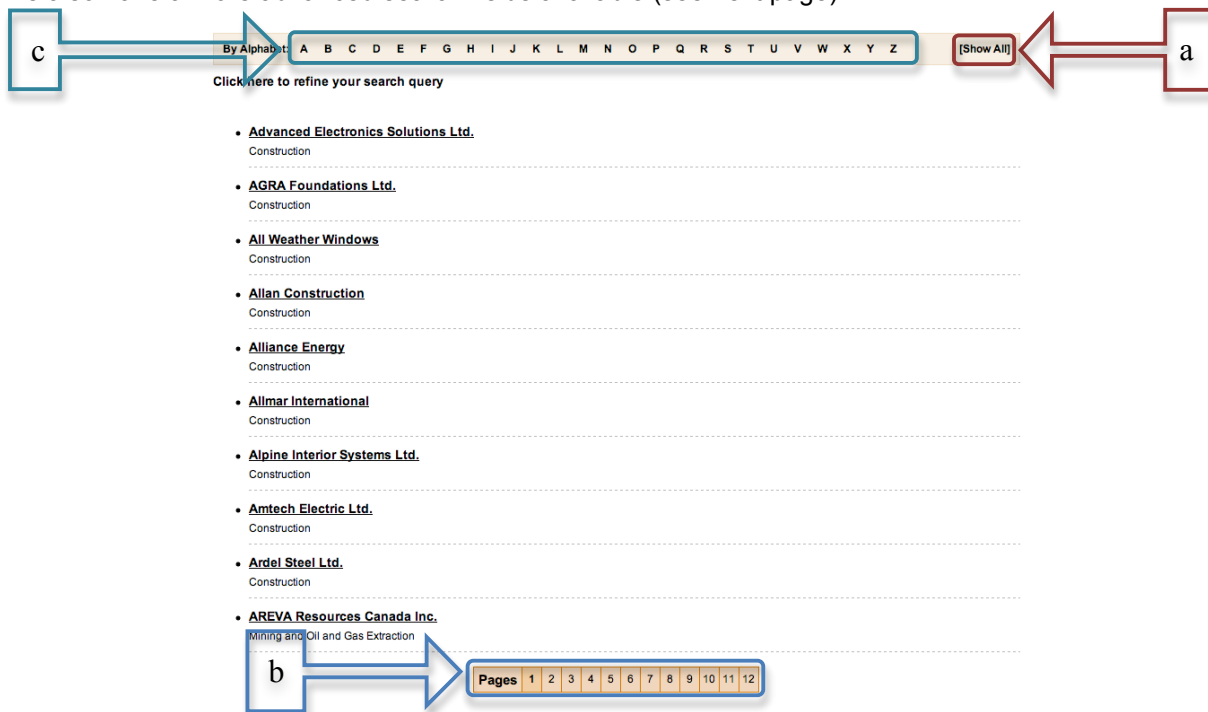

From our homepage at www.futurepaths.ca, you can find all the employer options under the “Employers” tab.

You can check out our registry by clicking the “Click here to view the registry” link found in the left box on this page.

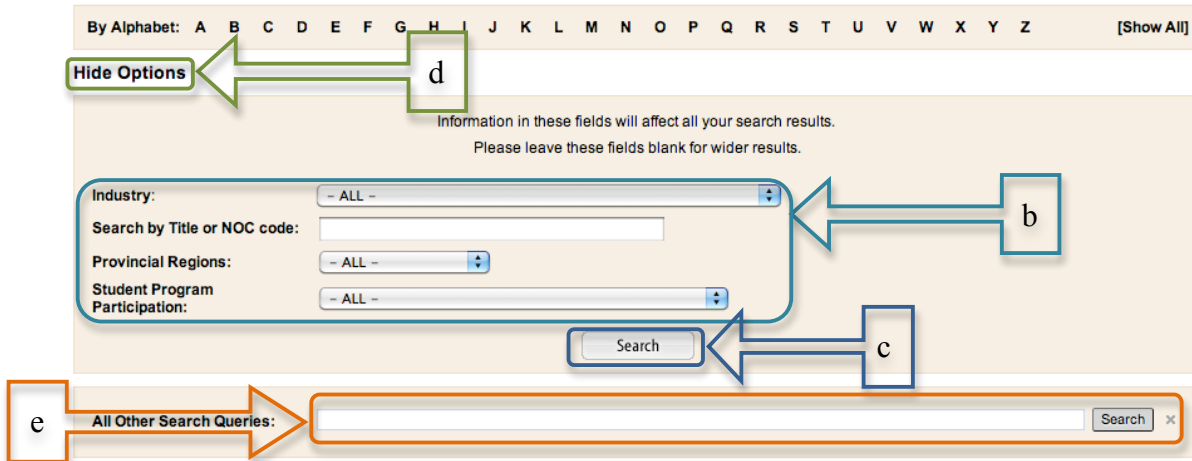

When the employer registry opens it will open the complete listing alphabetically. The registry has many entries and therefore spans many pages. We have designed some advanced search capabilities into the employer registry to assist a visitor into finding an individual listing quickly. At anytime you can return to the entire registry by clicking “Show All” (a). You can jump forward to any individual pages by clicking on the page number search (b). The listing can also be navigated by the first letter of an employers name using the alphabetical search bar (c). We also have a more advanced search fields available (see next page).

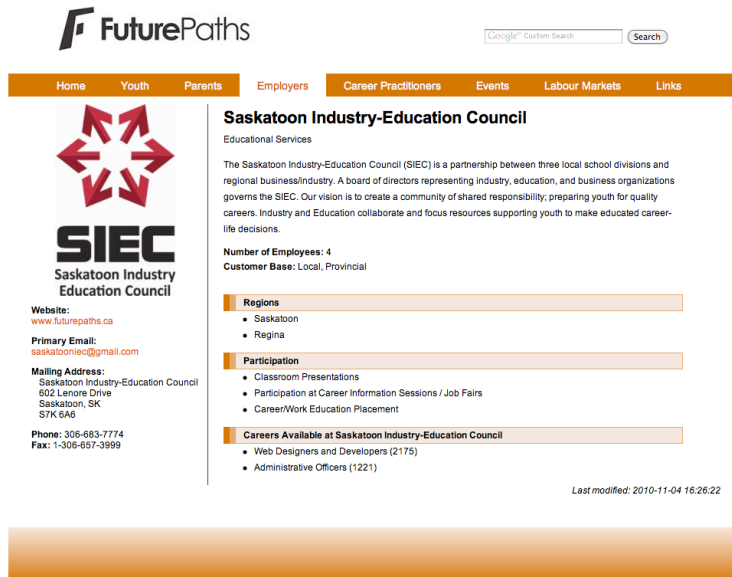

By clicking “Click here to refine your search query” (a) some drop down menus will appear (b).

These drop down menus (b) allow you to narrow your search to specific parameters. For example you can select a specific industry from the drop down menu, then click the “Search” button (c) and you will be shown all of our employer listings for that selected industry. These results can be further reduced by clicking on an alphabetical letter. Clicking “Hide Options” (d) removes these drop down menus from view again. Use the “All Other Search Queries” field (e) to look up any information not represented by our drop down menus.

Employer Profiles

Our registry is a compilation of Employer Listings. These listings display specific information from all of our employer’s profiles in a uniform format.

Information included in these listings include company logo, company website, primary email (this is used for login purposes, mailing address, main phone number, main fax number on the left side. The right side of the listing displays the company profile, number of employees, geographical base, a list of futurepaths.ca event participation, as well as the careers that occur at the business.
